

Supplier Code of Conduct

Weyland Energy GmbH

Priya Nair · 08 December 2025 · WE-PRC-COC-001

Weyland Energy builds wind, solar and storage assets that should do good for decades. We expect the same integrity from the companies that build them with us. This Code sets out the minimum standards for every supplier and their sub-suppliers.

1. Human rights and labour

- No forced, bonded or child labour – suppliers comply with the UK Modern Slavery Act 2015 and the German LkSG
- Freedom of association and fair wages at least at the legal minimum or the industry standard, whichever is higher
- Working hours and rest periods according to law; offshore rotations no longer than 28 days
- Zero tolerance for harassment and discrimination

2. Health and safety

Suppliers working on our sites must have a certified or equivalent occupational health and safety management system, report all incidents within two hours and stop any work they consider unsafe. Nobody will be penalised for stopping work.

3. Environment

- Comply with all environmental permits and consent conditions on our projects
- Report scope 1 and 2 emissions annually (critical suppliers: also scope 3 categories 1 and 4)
- Use responsibly sourced steel, copper and battery materials; disclose smelter and mine origin on request

4. Business ethics

- No bribery, facilitation payments or improper gifts (limit EUR 50, registered)
- Fair competition, no collusion in tenders
- Protection of confidential information and personal data (GDPR)

5. Speak up

Concerns can be raised confidentially through our whistleblowing line at speakup@weyland-energy.example. We investigate every report and protect those who report in good faith.
